MEET THE 2024 SPEAKERS & NGOS

SUMMER
PROGRAM ON MIGRATION
AND REFUGEE
STUDIES

HARVARD
UNIVERSITY &
NKUA

Sawsan Abdulrahim

Sawsan Abdulrahim (PhD, MPH) is Professor of Public Health in the Faculty of Health Sciences at the American University of Beirut, Lebanon, and a Visiting Fellow at the Harvard FXB Center for Health and Human Rights (AY 2023-2024). In her research, she utilizes mixed methods to illuminate social inequities in health across the life course, with a focus on the wellbeing of refugees and labor migrants in the Arab region. Most recently, she served as PI of community-engaged studies on the wellbeing of Syrian refugee adolescent girls and migrant women care workers in Lebanon. Her research interests include (forced) migration and health; aging and care; and the impact of structural violence on the health of refugees. She teaches courses on research methods, health promotion theory, social epidemiology, and forced migration.

Diego Acosta

Dr Diego Acosta is a leading international expert on International, European and comparative Migration law and a Professor of European and Migration Law at the University of Bristol in the UK. He is also the International Strategic Lead at the Migration Mobilities Research Centre at the same University and the Director of the Nebrija-Santander Global Chair on Migration and Human Rights at Nebrija University in Madrid. His work discusses Migration law as a central aspect of globalisation and analyses various processes of inclusion and exclusion and their profound implications for the rule of law in Europe, South America and other regions. He is the author of more than 60 publications, and his latest monograph is The National versus the Foreigner in South America. 200 Years of Migration and Citizenship Law (Cambridge University Press, 2018). His new project analyses free movement of people regimes and has obtained external funding to map these regimes globally. Dr Acosta is regularly invited to present his work at some of the most prestigious universities around the globe and has been visiting fellow at several institutions, including the University of New York (NYU), the European University Institute (EUI) in Florence, the Institute for Human Sciences (IWM) in Vienna, the Centre for Migration Studies at Toronto Metropolitan University, or the Centre for Fundamental Rights at Hertie School in Berlin. He has testified on migration law reform before Parliaments in Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru. He has provided consultancy for various governments, international organisations, law firms, political parties and NGOs in the USA, Europe, Latin America, the Caribbean and Africa.

Stratis Aggelis was born in Mytilene, Greece, in 1966. He studied Sociology and has been working as a professional journalist for over 30 years covering international news and crises for newspapers, radio and television stations. He has covered conflicts in the Middle East and the Balkans. He is currently chief editor of world news in Mega Channel, and contributes as op-editor to Avgi newspaper.

Jacqueline Bhabha

Jacqueline Bhabha is a Professor of the Practice of Health and Human Rights at the Harvard T.H.Chan School of Public Health, the Jeremiah Smith Jr. Lecturer in Law at Harvard Law School, and an Adjunct Lecturer in Public Policy at the Harvard Kennedy School. She is also the Director of Research at the FXB Center for Health and Human Rights at Harvard University. She received a first class honors degree and an M.Sc. from Oxford University, and a J.D. from the College of Law in London. From 1997 to 2001, Bhabha directed the Human Rights Program at the University of Chicago. Prior to 1997, she was a practicing human rights lawyer in London and at the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg. She has published extensively on issues of transnational child migration, refugee protection, children's rights and citizenship. She is the author of Child Migration and Human Rights in a Global Age (2014) and Can We Solve the Migration Crisis? (2018). She has edited or co-edited many books, including (2011),Human Children Without Α State Rights Adolescence (2014), Research Handbook on Child Migration (2018), A Better Future: The Role of Education for Displaced and Marginalized People (2020), and A Time for Reparation: Addressing State Responsibility for Collective Injustice (2021).

Giorgos Christides

Amal De Chickera

I am a seasoned journalist with over 20 years of experience working for print, broadcast, and online media, ranging from local radio stations and newspapers to global outlets such Spiegel BBC. Der and the My work includes producing articles, covering stories including breaking news, writing features, analyses and op-eds, producing multimedia content, taking part in crossborder, award-winning investigative reporting (IJ4EU Impact Award 2022, 2023, De Tegel award 2022, European Parliament journalism award for 2009). In the past 8 years I have focused on investigative and human rights reporting with a focus on migration. I have intimate knowledge of policies, policy making and decision makers at a local (Greek) and EU level, have taken part in numerous conventions, seminars, and workshops (both as an attendant and as a speaker), closed briefings and field visits. I have extensive experience in public speaking and presentations on human and civil rights issues. I have addressed large and small, selected audiences in multiple countries (i.a. in Greece, Germany, Bosnia, Turkey), have taught at colleges and Universities (most recently at the University of Athens's MSc program in Media & Refugee /Migration Flows), and have briefed numerous international and local officials and policymakers. I am member of the board of the Foreign Press Association of Greece.

Amal is a co-founder and one of the Co-Directors of the Institute. He is a Sri Lankan human rights lawyer, advocate and activist, with expertise in the right to nationality, statelessness and discrimination. Amal has researched, advocated, written, spoken, delivered training and served as an expert on statelessness and related issues for the UN, NGOs and academia, since 2008. Based out of ISI's London office, Amal has particularly focused on developing ISI's movement building, discrimination and advocacy work. Amal believes in the power of the arts to shape and inform our understanding and response to issues of social justice. He spearheads ISI's engagement with the arts and has (co) authored children's books and graphic novels to bring the challenge of statelessness to new audiences. Before co-founding the Institute, Amal led the statelessness work of the Equal Rights Trust. He was also a co-founder of the European Network on Statelessness, and a founding member of Stages - a Sri Lankan theatre group. A member of the Sri Lankan Bar, Amal holds an LLM (Distinction) from University College London and an LLB (Hons.) from the University of Colombo.

Dr Vasileia Digidiki is a Harvard Instructor, the Director of the Harvard FXB Summer Program on Migration and Refugee Studies, and a Health and Human Rights Fellow. She is a psychologist by training with more than 14 years of experience working on issues of distress migration, human trafficking, victim blaming and child protection and serves as a Senior Associate Editor for the Behavioral Medicine, a Taylor and Francis Publications journal with an impact factor of 2.4. Since 2017, Dr. Digidiki has led the Harvard FXB Center's research agenda on distress migration. She has conducted research in Greece, Bangladesh, West and Central Africa, Sudan and Mexico focusing on child protection, access to education, access to antenatal care, and the nexus between human trafficking and distress migration. Dr. Digidiki has been funded by a number of international organizations, including IOM, BRAC and UNICEF, to analyze datasets and conduct research in the field of migration, child protection and human trafficking. In 2021, she was commissioned by IOM to produce the first worldwide report on child trafficking, analyzing the largest worldwide dataset on child trafficking victims.

In 2022, Dr. Digidiki and Prof. Jacqueline Bhabha, developed the first international, interdisciplinary summer program on migration and refugee studies in collaboration with the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. Dr. Digidiki also teaches in the FXB Center's Executive Education program for child protection professionals, as well as the Center's Child Protection Certificate Program for students, and has taught for Harvard University's Harvard X online training on Child Protection. Dr. Digidiki holds a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology, two master's degrees on Forensic and Social Psychology and a PhD in Social and Clinical Psychology. During her PhD studies, she was awarded the Greek State Scholarship, and in 2019 she was awarded the Health and Human rights Fellowship. She is a native of the Greek island of Lesvos where she offered her services as a first responder during the massive influx of distress migrants in 2015 and 2016.

Angeliki Dimitriadi

Angeliki Dimitriadi is a political scientist working on irregular migration and asylum. Her research focuses on migration management policies at external borders, migration governance in the EU and European foreign policy on migration. She is Head of the Migration Programme and Senior Research Fellow at ELIAMEP in Athens and non-resident fellow at the Global Public Policy Institute (GPPi) in Berlin. She is a member of the editorial board of the Migration Studies journal, and a member of the Progressive Migration Group established by the Foundation for European Progressive Studies. She is professor of political sciences at College Year in Athens, teaching courses on European foreign policy and migration policy. Angeliki holds a BSc in International Relations & History (LSE), an MA in War Studies (KCL), and a PhD with a focus on migration (Democritus University). Her academic publications found can be https://orcid.org/0000-0002-6937-3011.

Emmanuella Doussis

Emmanuella Doussis is a professor of international institutions at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, director of the Institute of European Integration and Policy and UNESCO Chairholder on Climate Diplomacy. She lectures on international institutions, international and European environmental law and policies, the role of international law in addressing several crises, including the climate crisis, climate diplomacy & climate policies with a focus on Southeast Europe. She has studied political science and law at the University of Athens and at the Sorbonne in Paris (Paris I). Her interest in environmental issues goes back to when she was a student in Paris. After a first Master in International Law, she completed a second one in Environmental Law. Since then, environmental issues have been at the center of her research interests.

She has been a Fulbright Visiting Scholar at UC Berkeley, visiting professor at the Universities of Grenoble-Alpes, Bourgogne, Aix-Marseille and a visiting fellow at the European University Institute (EUI). Her most recent book concerns the role of international law in effectively managing climate change (International Law and Climate Change Diplomacy, Nomiki Vivliothiki, Athens, 2020). She has coordinated European educational and research projects (Jean Monnet module on Moving the EU forward 2015-2018, Jean Monnet module on *European Climate Diplo*macy 2019-2022). She is a member of the IUCN World Environmental Law Committee, of the Scientific Council of the Centre for Mediterranean Integration, the scientific committee of the Hellenic Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Greek National Committee for Adaptation on Climate Change.

She has published alone or in collaboration with other authors ten books, and many articles in peer-review international journals. For her educational and research activities she has been awarded the 2021 Natural Resources International Legal Specialist Award from the Centre of International Sustainable Development Law.

Maria Gavouneli

Maria Gavouneli is a Professor of International Law, Faculty of Law and Athens Public International Law Center – Athens PIL, National & Kapodistrian University of Athens. She also serves as Director, Refugee & Migration Studies Hub – RMS Hub, National & Kapodistrian University of Athens and presides at the Greek National Commission of Human Rights (2019-2022). Professor Gavouneli has also coordinated and taken part in major research teams funded by European and Greek resources, having received multiple research grants. She has also been a Fulbright Visiting Scholar 2018-2019 at the University of California Berkeley and a Visiting professor and lecturer in several universities and research institutions in Greece and abroad, including the Royal Institute of International Affairs (Chatham House), Tulane University (USA), the University of Edinburgh (Brodies Lecture), the University of Oxford, the University of Glasgow, the University of Manchester, Utrecht University.

Tareq Hadhad is telling his story. He was a Syrian refugee and now living his new life with his entrepreneurial family in Canada's east coast. He is the founder and CEO of Peace by Chocolate. Passionate about peace and entrepreneurship, his family relaunched the family business to recreate the chocolates they exported across the Middle East and their story turned into an international inspiring phenomenon. Tareq has done over 500 interviews with news teams across the globe and is a keynote speaker who talks about his family's compelling story, the positive impact of Syrian newcomers and the spirit of entrepreneurship.

Most recently, he awarded Atlantic Business Magazine's 30 under 30 Innovators.

Vassilis Hatzopoulos is full Professor of EU Law and Policies at the Panteion University, Athens. Previously he was Professor at the Democritus University of Thrace, where he also served as Chair of his Department, then Dean of his School. He is a visiting Professor at the College of Europe, Bruges. His research interests cover EU institutional law and governance, the EU internal market, state aid and public procurement, as well as EU asylum and immigration law. He has published five monographs, on the principle of mutual recognition in the internal market (in French, Bruylant/Sakkoulas, 1999), on domain names (in Greek, Nomiki Vivliothiki, 2001, with V. Tountopoulos), on the doctrine of essential facilities under EU competition law (in Greek, Sakkoulas, 2002), on the regulation of services in the EU (in English, OUP, 2012) and on the collaborative economy and EU law (in English, Hart, 2018). He has also published over a hundred articles and case notes, in English, French and Greek. He has a longstanding experience as a lawyer, practicing before the highest national courts and the Court of Justice of the EU.

Evika Karamagioli is a jurist and is currently serving as Scientific Associate at the MSc "Global Health - Disaster Medicine", Medical School and at the MSc "Master of Science in Digital Communication Media and Interaction Environments" Faculty of Communication and Media Studies (NKUA). She also serves as visiting Assistant Professor (Hon) in humanitarian crisis management, communication and technology, Medical School, University of Bern, Switzerland. Her academic background includes a Ph.D. degree in Social Sciences from the University of Paris 8, a MSc in Global Health and Disaster Medicine, NKUA, Greece, a MSc in Global Security and Defense and Bachelor's degree in European and International Law from the University Grenoble II, France. She holds professional certifications as an adult trainer and professional program instructor in leadership. She has 15 years of global experience both in the academia and non for-profit sector, having worked in the Europe, Middle East and Asian Countries in the area of humanitarian technologies and emergency response. Her fields of expertise include democratic innovation through participatory design methods and tools, humanitarian technologies, disaster management and emergency risk communication. She has several years of experience in working with WHO in the field of migrants and refugee's health and most recently, with the WHO academy as expert for mass casualties training. She is the author of numerous papers on those themes and regularly delivers relevant presentations at international conferences. She is the recipient of several international awards emergency risk communication teaching.

Born on Lesbos to parents who both came to the island as refugees fleeing Turkey after the Greeks lost the Greco-Turkish War in 1922, Zoi went on to specialize in emergency medicine and to work around the world with Doctors Without Borders and the Hellenic Rescue Team, which she founded in 1998.

On Lesbos, she works for the International Organization on Migration, offers medical support to the Greek Coast Guard and helps the local community through the Medical Association of Lesbos and a Greek NGO called The Smile of the Child.

Noora Lori

Maria - Daniella Marouda

Noora Lori is an Assistant Professor of International Relations at the Pardee School of Global Studies, Boston University. Her research focuses on citizenship, migration and racial politics in the Middle East and in comparative perspective. Her book, Offshore Citizens: Permanent "Temporary" Status in the Gulf (Cambridge University Press 2019) received the best book prize from the Migration and Citizenship section of the American Political Science Association (2020), the Distinguished Book Award from the Ethnicity, Nationalism, and Migration Studies section of the International Studies Association (2021), the Best Book in from the Middle East and North Africa politics section of the American Political Science Association. She has published in the International Migration Review, International Journal of Middle East Studies and Journal of Global Security Studies, among other journals and edited volumes. Her work has been funded by the ACLS/Mellon foundation, Ziet-Stiftung Ebelin und Gerd Bucerius, the Hariri Institute for Computing and Computer Engineering (BU), the Initiative on Cities (BU) (2016; 2019), as well as other grants. She is the codirector (with Kaija Schilde) of the Pardee School Initiative on Forced Migration and Human Trafficking. She was previously an Academy Scholar at the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies, a fellow at the International Security Program of the Harvard Kennedy School, and a visiting scholar at the Dubai School of Government. She received her PhD in Political Science from Johns Hopkins University's 2013 (nlori@bu.edu).

Professor Maria Daniella Marouda is an Independent member in respect of Greece and Chair of the European Committee against Racism and Intolerance (1st term as of January 2020, 2ndterm as of 2022). She is an Assistant Professor in International Law, Panteion University of Athens and Jean Monnet Chair Holder on EU Solidarity in Civil Protection and Humanitarian Action (emphasis on Migration and the Covid19 pandemic). UNESCO Chairholder on Peace, Human Rights and Democracy - Head of EU and UNHCR Research projects on mapping integration indicators for the inclusion of refugee and migrant children through education, as well as on homeless unaccompanied children. 20 years of experience in humanitarian fieldwork, through OSCE, UNHCR and then International Committee of the Red Cross, in armed conflicts (1996 Bosnia Herzegovina, 1997 Albania, 1999 Kosovo, 1998-99 Sri Lanka), and then onwards based in Greece with short missions in areas in crisis or conflict.

Nuala Mole

Nuala Mole has a law degree from the University of Oxford, a degree in European Law from The College of Europe, Bruges, Belgium and an honorary doctorate from the University of Essex. She has been a guest lecturer at universities across the USA and Europe as well as providing expertise and training to judges, public officials, legal practitioners, IOM, UNHCR, the European Commission, the Council of Europe and the Academy of European Law in Trier. In 1993 she set up the AIRE Centre to provide information, advice and direct legal representation in the European Court of Human Rights where she has been involved in the litigation of over 150 cases as well as in several cases before the Court of Justice of the European Union and at the UNCRC Committee. The focus of her work for 30 years has been on migration, asylum, international child abduction and other aspects of children's rights and she has written and published widely on these themes having been involved in policy development as well as in litigation. She has worked expensively in the Western Balkans and lived in the UK, the USA and in Belgium and Greece. She works in several European languages.

Nasruddin Nizami

Nasruddin Nizami comes from Afghanistan. I arrived in Greece in 2010. He attended educational courses at Deree college. I was a volunteer for the initiative "Refugees Welcome". I have worked as an interpreter, cultural mediator, and case worker at the International Organization of Migration and at the Greek Council for Refugees, where I'm currently a coordinator in the Reception and Interpretation Unit. I'm also a board member and Community Relations Officer of the non-profit organization "Solomon https://wearesolomon.com/". I speak Pashto Dari/Farsi, Urdu, English and Greek.

Hadi Mohebi is a mentor at the Special Secretariat for the Protection of Unaccompanied Minors within the Ministry of Migration and Asylum in Greece. Originally from Afghanistan, he arrived in Greece seven years ago as an unaccompanied minor seeking asylum. With his own firsthand experience, he is now supporting other unaccompanied minors, empowering them to become self-reliant. He gives the children advice on education, integration, and their daily lives. Hadi is currently pursuing his studies at the Athens Economic University, specializing in International and European Economic Studies.

.

Irini Papanicolopulu

Professor Irini Papanicolopulu (PhD, University of Milan) is associate professor of international law at the University of Milano-Bicocca (Italy). She has previously held academic positions at the University of Glasgow (UK) and the University of Oxford (UK). Prof. Papanicolopulu conducts research and has published widely in international law, including among others law of the sea, delimitation of maritime boundaries, environmental law, international humanitarian law and human rights law. She has been invited to academic and research institutions around the world, including the Max Planck Institute for Comparative and International Private Law (Germany) and the International Maritime Law Institute (Malta) among others. She is the author or two monographs, including "International Law and the Protection of People at Sea" (OUP 2018).

Emmanouil Pikoulis

Dr Emmanouil Pikoulis is the Dean of School of Health Sciences of NKUA and Professor of Surgery. He is an Adj. Professor of Surgery of the USUHS, Bethesda in Maryland, USA, and Adj. Professor in Humanitarian and Catastrophe Emergency Medicine of the University of Bern, Switzerland. Since 2016 he is the Director of MSc "Global Health – Disaster Medicine" School of Medicine - NKUA, and the Supervisor of Attikon Medical Center (A.K.I.S.A). He also holds a Jean Monnet Chair in "Humanitarian Medicine and Response in action". He is a board-certified general surgeon, who has combined his background in emergency surgery and trauma surgical management with a special interest in global health, humanitarian aid and disaster medicine in working on educational programs development, disaster preparedness and training around the world. He has an extensive experience in the designing, implementing, and evaluating disaster drills, in the field of humanitarian medicine with third countries with emphasis in the African Continent (Tanzania), as well as in public health emergency response leadership training. He has several years of experience in working with WHO in the field of refugee's health and most recently, with the WHO academy as expert for mass casualties training. He is an award-winning scientist for his contribution in humanitarian medicine education.

George Pleios

George Pleios is a Professor at the Department of Communication & Media Studies - NKUA, Board Member of the Refugee and Migration Studies HUB and Coordinator of the Jean Monet Module "ReVive": The Future of Displaced People under the EU auspices in the Post Pandemic Era - Lessons learned and new challenges. Prior he has worked at the University of Crete and the University of Ioannina. Since 2003, he is Director of the Laboratory for Social Research in Mass Media. He taught also in China, Hungary, Ukraine, Cyprus, Bulgaria, Portugal, Turkey, Malaysia and other Greek Universities. Author, coauthor and editor of 10 books, 32 chapters, 50 articles published in Greece and internationally (UK, USA, Spain, Portugal, Bulgaria, Romania, China, Australia, Turkey), PI in 37 research projects. Former member of the Supervisory Board of the ECPMF (2015 – 2017) and the National Council for Radio and Television of Greece (2016 – 2023), Vice Coordinator of the Research Network 18 (Media Sociology) of the European Sociological Association (2011 – 2014), Vice- President (2016 – 2018) and President (2018 – 2020) of the Hellenic Sociological Society (HSS). His recent publications focus on news, fake news, war reporting, media and referendums. https://pleios.gr/

Areti Sianni (Greece) has worked for thirty years on refugee protection at country, regional and headquarters levels in Europe, Middle East and North Africa and Asia-Pacific regions including in emergency operations. Prior to taking her assignment in India, she served as Assistant Representative (Protection) with UNHCR Yemen and as Assistant Chief of Mission (Protection) with UNHCR Libya.

Areti has also served as Senior Protection Adviser with UNHCR's Regional Bureau for the Middle East and North Africa and in a policy advisory capacity on responses to mixed population flows in various countries. From 2012-2014, she was seconded to the Bali Process Regional Support Office where she advised on protection sensitive responses to mixed movements of refugees and migrants including by sea. Before joining UNHCR in 2008, Areti worked as an independent consultant as well as with foundations and international NGOS including the European Council on Refugees and Exiles, Amnesty International-International Secretariat and the Barrow Cadbury Trust.

Areti Sianni holds degrees in Development Studies (MSc, London School of Economics, London, UK), Politics (MA, Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia) and Political Science and Public Administration (University of Athens, Greece). She speaks Greek, English, French and Spanish."

Dalton T. Sirmans is a Co-Founder and Senior Partner at Amplio Ventures, focusing on growth capital for businesses restoring refugee stability. He is also Co-Founder of MainStreet Technologies, a financial technology company acquired in 2018. With a background in entrepreneurship, marketing, and business coaching, Dalton utilizes his experience to evaluate investment opportunities with a multiple bottom-line approach. Currently pursuing a Master of Liberal Arts in International Relations at Harvard University, Dalton's dedication to educating the marketplace and advocating for refugee-owned business is evident in his forthcoming book, "The Refugee Advantage."

Apostolos Staikos

Apostolos Staikos is a Journalist at Euronews.

Anna Stavrakopoulou

Anna Stavrakopoulou is Associate Professor of Theatre Studies. She studied philology at the University of Crete and theatre at Université Paris III-Sorbonne Nouvelle (DEA, Institut d'Etudes Théâtrales) and at Harvard University (PhD, 1994). She taught at New York University, at the University of Bosporus in Istanbul (where she initiated courses on ancient and modern Greek, with the support of the Onassis Foundation) and at Harvard University (1996-1999). She served as Deputy Executive Director of the Onassis Foundation (USA) (1999-2001) and taught as a visiting professor at Yale and the University of Crete (2001-2002). She has been teaching history and theory of theatre at the Drama Department (AUTH) since 2003. Furthermore, she is a founding member and part of the faculty team of Harvard Summer Program in Greece (which has been in operation from 2002 to the present) and has served as Associate Director of the Harvard Center for Hellenic Studies-Greece (2010-2018). She has received grants from the Greek State Scholarships Foundation, Ilex Foundation and Bogliasco Foundation. She has served as the Vice-Chair of the Board of Directors at the National Theatre of Northern Greece (2011-2013). Recently, she served as Program Director of Byzantine Studies at Dumbarton Oaks Research Library and Collection.

Elda Stoupa

Eleni – Panagiota (Elda) Stoupa is scientific associate at MSc 'Global Health – Disaster Medicine' at School of Medicine of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, and Research Associate at Centre of Mediterranean, Middle East and Islamic Studies in the framework of the Department of Political Science and International Relations of the University of Peloponnese. She holds a BSc in Political Science and Public Administration from the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens with specialization in Political Analysis and a MSc in Social Anthropology from the University of Edinburgh. She has worked as project manager and coordinator in multiple EU and international funded projects, while she has participated as researcher in multiple public health projects related with vulnerable populations. Her research interests are extending to the memory of violence through human body, health humanities, as well as social, cultural, and anthropological perspectives in humanitarian crises, disaster, and emergency management.

Agis Terzidis is a pediatrician, specialized in public health and holds a PhD in preventive medicine - epidemiology. He is the academic supervisor of the MSc "Global Health - Disaster Medicine" of the School of Medicine, of National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. Mr Terzidis is among the first active members of Médecins du Monde Greece, participating in their missions in Greece and abroad. During this career he has also participated in missions of Doctors Without Borders, being also a member of the board of directors. Today he is the General Secretary of the board of directors of MDM Greece. Mr Terzidis has been a member of many editorial teams for the national strategy against social exclusion, as well as coordinator of European programs to combat poverty and upgrade the living conditions of socially vulnerable groups. He has a special scientific interest in improving access to the healthcare system for socially excluded groups, as well as for the health of 'People on the move'. He is a certified expert for the identification of victims of torture, and since 2013 a member of the scientific team for the certification of victims of torture in METADRASI.

Daphne Tolis

I am a producer/journalist, mostly working in broadcast, and a documentary filmmaker/photographer based in Athens. I have reported from Greece and many other countries, as far afield as Bangladesh and Lebanon. Beyond my own documentary projects, I frequently work as a freelance field producer and fixer in Greece for large European and American television networks, including the BBC, VICE News, ABC, PBS, SRF, NPR, Channel 4, Deutsche Welle, ZDF, VPRO. My work with these organisations involves setting up shoots, researching, using my contacts to gain access to key voices in Greece and around the Mediterranean, and field producing the shoots themselves. I also work as a field producer, researcher, journalist and translator assisting leading storytellers from around the world with feature stories and filming in Greece. I have visited many refugee camps and settlements across Greece. While following refugee flows, I travelled to camps in Turkey, North Macedonia, Serbia, Italy, Lebanon, Calais in France and Cox's Bazar in Bangladesh. I have won two Migration Media Awards for my reporting in this area, for stories I produced as a freelancer with colleagues from the BBC and VICE, respectively.

Eva Tzavala is a legal expert on migration and asylum law, working currently as the Head of the Scientific Unit at the Greek National Commission for Human Rights, the Greek NHRI. She has been chairing the Asylum and Migration Working Group of the European Network of NHRIs for the past 3 years. She has previously worked for the Greek Ministry for Migration and Asylum, the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees Office in Greece, the United Nations Office of Legal Affairs in the USA and the Marangopoulos Foundation for Human Rights. Besides her professional career, she is a member of the Athens Public International Law Center at the NKUA and has been collaborating with other research institutes on research projects on public international law and human rights. She has also extensive experience in teaching and training students and professionals from academia, the public sector, education and businesses. She has been the author of studies on international aspects of human rights protection, asylum law and the treatment of migrants.

Negin Torfinezhadian

Negin Torfinezhadian was born in South Iran. She arrived in Lesvos, Greece 7 years ago on the day that she turned 18 years old, seeking asylum with well-founded fear of persecution being a victim of forced marriage. Her journey to Greece has been quite challenging as she had to walk during the biggest part of her journey. Mrs. Torfinezhadian experienced staying in the refugee camp of Moria in Lesvos and resided in Elaionas camp in Athens. Despite the significant challenges of being a young refugee and a single mother, Mrs. Torfinezhadian has been supporting other refugees either by working as a volunteer or as a paid interpreter since her arrival in Greece and onwards. This significant experience led her to her current role working as a mentor for UAMs in the Special Secretariat for the Protection of Unaccompanied Minors in the Ministry of Migration and Asylum providing guidance through her lived experience to unaccompanied children residing now in Greece.

Khatharya Um

Khatharya Um is Associate Dean and Associate Professor in the Department of Ethnic Studies at the University of California, Berkeley where she also received her PhD in Political Science and was the Chancellor's Distinguished Postdoctoral Fellow. Professor Um is Co-founder of the Critical Refugee Studies Collective and former Chair of the IARU Global Transformation Working Group. Dr. Um's scholarship centers on Southeast Asia, diaspora studies, and critical refugee studies, postcolonial, and peace and conflict studies. Her scholarship has informed refugee policies and programs in the US and internationally. An impassioned community advocate, she has also co-founded and served on the board of numerous refugee-led and refugee-serving organizations. For her scholarship and community leadership, she has received numerous recognitions, including the prestigious 2023 Fukuoka Academic Laureate Prize and the 2019 Berkeley Chancellor's Award for Advancing Institutional Excellence and Equity.

Professor Um is the first Cambodian American woman to receive a Ph.D., and the first Cambodian to join the Berkeley faculty.

Pericles Vallianos

Dr. Pericles Vallianos is Professor Emeritus of the University of Athens, where he taught political philosophy for many years. He studied in the United States, where he received his B.A. from Wesleyan University and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Brandeis University. His area of interest and research has been the philosophy of German Idealism and especially the way it incorporated and applied in the modern context the legacy of Ancient Greek metaphysics and ethics. His particular concern has been to show that philosophy is not an obscure subject, but that it deals with issues that are of immediate concern to all human beings. He is the author of many articles and books on the intellectual bases of European civilization, in which he explores the vital significance of Hellenic ideas on human nature and the striving for political liberty. He is currently associated with Hellenic American University as a teacher of philosophy.

Apostolos Veizis

Dr. Apostolos Veizis is the Executive Director of INTERSOS, a non-profit humanitarian aid organization in Greece. Prior to that worked at the HQ of Médecins Sans Frontières – Greece as Director of Medical Operational Support Unit(SOMA), Head of Mission and Medical Coordinator for Médecins Sans Frontières and Médecins du Monde in Afghanistan, Azerbaijan, Russian Federation, Albania, Egypt, Georgia, Greece, Turkey. He has participated in assessment, emergency assignments and evaluations in Kyrgyzstan, Morocco, Armenia, Lebanon, Syria, Ukraine, Turkmenistan, Zambia, Malawi, Uzbekistan, North Macedonia, Cyprus and Tajikistan..

Elke Winter

Elke Winter is a Professor at the School of Sociological and Anthropological Studies at the bilingual University of Ottawa/Université d'Ottawa. She conducts research in the fields of nationalism, citizenship, immigration, and ethnic/racial diversity. Professor Winter wrote Max Weber et les relations ethniques. Du refus du biologisme racial à l'État multinational (PUL 2004), won the Canadian Sociology Association's John Porter Tradition of Excellence Award for Us, Them, and Others: Pluralism and National Identity in Diverse Societies (UTP 2011), coedited When States Take Rights Back: Citizenship Revocation and Its Discontents (Routledge 2020), and served as the guest editor for several special journal issues, most recently of "Middle Class Nation Building Through Immigration?" in The Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies. Her current work examines how neoliberalism refashions societal (dis)integration along and across ethnic and racial fault lines. Professor Winter is an alumna of the German Academic Scholarship Foundation, the Royal Society of Canada's College of New Scholars, Artists and Scientists, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, and the Weatherhead Research Cluster on Comparative Inequality and Inclusion. She held research fellowships at the Universities of Bielefeld, Heidelberg, and Konstanz (Germany), at the Université de Paris Diderot and the l'École normale supérieure de Lyon (France), at the University of Amsterdam (Netherlands), as well as at Stanford and Harvard University (USA). In 2019-2021, she served as Harvard's William Lyon Mackenzie King Chair for Canadian Studies.

Brenda S.A. Yeoh

Brenda S.A. Yeoh FBA is Raffles Professor of Social Sciences, National University of Singapore (NUS) and Research Leader, Asian Migration Cluster, at NUS' Asia Research Institute. She was awarded the Vautrin Lud Prize for outstanding achievements in Geography in 2021. Her research interests in Asian migrations span themes such as gender, social reproduction and care migration; skilled migration and cosmopolitanism; higher education and international student mobilities; and marriage migrants and cultural politics. Her recent books include Student Mobilities and International Education in Asia (Palgrave Macmillan, 2020, with R. Sidhu and K.C. Ho), Handbook of Transnationalism (Edward Elgar, 2022, with F.L. Collins), and Handbook of Migration and the Family (Edward Elgar, 2023, with J.L. Waters)...

Umut Yildirim

Umut teaches political anthropology at the Graduate Institute of Geneva. She specializes in transnational development programs and wartime aid and welfare policies; colonial containment and forced military migration; and political, cultural, and ecological resistance from an ethnographic perspective in Armenian/Kurdish Turkey. A manuscript for her first monograph, Low Intensities: War, Extraction, and Resistance in a Middle Eastern Capital, is in progress. Her research is available on platforms such as Current Anthropology [2021, 2024] and Anthropological Theory [2019]. A recent book she edited on war-torn ecologies, An-Archic Fragments: Reflections from the Middle East, meditates on the conceptual intersection of war, more-than-human memory, affect, and Middle Eastern ecologies. Previously, she held research fellowships at UCLA, FU Berlin, and ICI Berlin, and taught political anthropology at Bilgi, Bogaziçi, and Sabanci Universities in Istanbul, Turkey.

MEET THE 2024 PARTICIPATING NGOs

2024 NGOs Fair

SUMMER
PROGRAM ON MIGRATION
AND REFUGEE
STUDIES

HARVARD
UNIVERSITY &
NKUA

The AIRE Centre (Advice on Individual Rights in Europe) is a specialist legal charity based in London but our mandate is pan European. The AIRE Centre litigates before the European Court of Human Rights and the European Court Of Justice and has been involved in over 100 cases since the organisation was founded in 1993. Our policy has always been to offer our litigation expertise in whatever form it is needed, which may mean acting as representatives on the record, sharing our expertise on procedural and substantive law, or intervening as an expert third party in cases which we are not assisting in the representation.

Mission

We use the power of European law to protect fundamental rights.

We do this by:

- 1. providing expert advice on European law,
- 2. conducting litigation in cases where fundamental European rights are at stake,
- 3. undertaking policy work, training and technical assistance to promote standard setting and the sound development of the law, and
- 4. operating a well-resourced and purposeful organisation for the benefit of those seeking to enjoy their fundamental European rights.

Impact

Where we identify critical human rights violations or gaps in policy or law which affect individuals in Europe, we step in and pursue cases with strategic potential. Such cases have had a wider impact on a national and international level, protecting the rights of vulnerable people including asylum-seekers, people who are homeless, victims of trafficking and survivors of domestic violence, to name a few. The AIRE Centre specialises in litigation before the European Court of Human Rights and the European Court of Justice. We act as representatives on the record, sharing our expertise on procedural and substantive law, or we intervene as an expert third party in cases which we are not assisting in the representation.

The GCR:

- Has an efficient team of interpreters, who act as intercultural mediators, documents and assesses the needs of refugees who arrive in their offices daily;
- Has a legal team of more than 70 lawyers that provides a wide range of legal services to refugees and asylum seekers;
- Their psychosocial support unit and their social services include individualized and multidisciplinary assistance that considers all the material and psychological needs of the beneficiaries of international protection, including assistance in family and medical emergencies, management of vulnerable cases, access to food and housing, referrals to state services and organization.

The Greek Council for Refugees (GCR) is a Non- Governmental Organization, which has been active since 1989 in the field of asylum and human rights in Greece. GCR is an association recognized as a special charity, is included in the Registers of competent Ministries, has Consultative Status in the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) of the UN since 2001 and is an operative partner of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR). In addition to the above, GCR is a member of the Executive Committee of the European Council on Refugees and Exiles (ECRE) since 1991, a member of the Separated Children in Europe Program (SCEP) while it also participates in the National Committee for Human Rights (EEDA) since 1999.

Mission

The GCR welcomes and offers free legal and social advice and services to refugees and people coming from third countries who are entitled to international protection in our country, while special emphasis is put on vulnerable cases, such as unaccompanied minors, victims of trafficking etc. The ultimate goal is their protection and their smooth integration in our country.

Impact (Continue)

The GCR's intercultural center PYXIDA hosts several cultural and educational activities which are addressed to recognized refugees, such as free Greek and English lessons, educational counseling and learning support, specialized workshops for children and adults, etc.

GCR's services are offered in Athens, Thessaloniki and in the region of Evros but also in Lesvos, Kos and Herakleion - Crete. The main sources of GCR stem from European and co-financed Programs, by the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, by grant making trusts as well as companies and individuals.

The primary goals of HIAS's work in Greece are twofold;

a) the provision of high quality legal support and representation to refugees with a focus on those who are most vulnerable, such as children and survivors of torture or genderbased violence (GBV) and the provision of psychosocial support to those in need.

b)HIAS' community-based mental health programs promote the well-being of individuals, families, and communities affected by crisis and conflict so they can heal and rebuild their lives. In 2022, 801 people received services.

The Eastern Mediterranean route from Turkey to Greece's eastern borders is one of the most widely traveled refugee pathways in the world. Refugees, asylum seekers, and migrants from the Middle East, Africa, and Asia travel to Greece via sea and land, seeking safety in Europe.

Since 2014, more than 1 million people have crossed into the country, fleeing violence and humanitarian crises in Syria, Iraq, Afghanistan, and other countries. With this large influx of refugees, access to basic needs is scarce and vulnerable people are not sufficiently protected. Greece hosts about 121,000 refugees and migrants, 40 percent of whom are under the age of 18.

Mission

HIAS is the world's oldest refugee agency. Though the organization was formally established as the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society in 1902, that founding moment represented a continuation of several predecessor organizations that had worked through the 1880s and 1890s to assist Jews fleeing pogroms in Russia and Eastern Europe. While those arriving in the United States at that time were refugees, the world did not yet have a legal concept for people who needed safe refuge outside their homelands.

Originally set up by Jews to help fellow Jews for reasons of religious imperative and communal solidarity, HIAS in the 2020s is a multicontinent, multi-pronged humanitarian aid and advocacy organization with thousands of employees dedicated to helping forcibly displaced persons around the world in keeping with the organization's Jewish roots. was, is and will always be at the frontline of emergencies.

THP currently operates 13 shelters in Athens, overseen by the Child Protection Unit. THP has supported over 1,000 children since 2016, successfully reuniting 225 of them with their families throughout Europe and has created 220 jobs. Notably, THP employs 25 individuals who were formerly beneficiaries of its shelters, serving as caregivers, interpreters, and cleaners.

Education holds a crucial position in THP's approach, as all children under their care attend Greek schools. The organization has formed partnerships with three renowned private educational institutions, which have played a vital role by offering scholarships enabling children to pursue higher education at the college and university level in Greece and in the US.

In Greece, care for unaccompanied refugee children remains scattered among NGOs and international bodies. Available European Union funds for accommodation and social welfare services remain under-utilized. The Greek state needs to develop the requisite capacity to properly protect and integrate refugee children who arrive alone. Chronic institutional incompetence contributes to social discontent and fatigue with refugee issues, giving ground to xenophobia and racism in public discourse and politics. There are 2,219 unaccompanied children in Greece today. A large number of them are excluded from institutional child protection services, without access to basic care, social welfare, or any information about their rights.

Mission

The HOME Project (THP) is a nonprofit organization created in 2016 to care for unaccompanied children whose families and lives are wrecked by war and persecution, empowering them to persevere and grow into active citizens.

What we do

We aim to improve the lives of unaccompanied minors by influencing child protection policy at a national and international level. Our goal is to influence society as a whole by guiding refugee children to become active citizens and encouraging local communities to welcome them.

At the heart of the organization is the THP child protection model, which provides:

- 1. A holistic network of child protection services guided by an Individual Development Plan addressing each child's particular needs over time, including physical and mental health, education, life skills, social and legal support
- 2.Employment for Greeks, migrants and refugees, including children reaching adulthood
- 3.A healing and inclusive environment, and active engagement of the local community in order to cultivate social inclusion

INTERSOS HELLAS completes seven years of dynamic presence in Greece, sending the loudest message against all kinds of discrimination and in favor of the protection and respect of human life. During these seven INTERSOS HELLAS has offered vears, comprehensive assistance to asylum seekers, refugees and recognized migrants in Macedonia, Epirus, Thessaly, Lesvos and Attica, while successfully implementing independent national programs, Vaccines for All', 'Food for All'' and "Protection for All Minors" which aim to meet the basic needs of particularly vulnerable social groups.

INTERSOS HELLAS is a non-governmental organization that operates in Greece with the aim to provide equal opportunities and long term, durable solutions to people in need. We are a member of the INTERSOS family which has been active since 1992 and is operating in more than 23 countries around the world.

Mission

INTERSOS HELLAS implements a series of supportive activities aimed at improving the wellbeing, providing meaningful access to information, services, rights and orientation, along with other auxiliary actions that will facilitate the movement towards the self-reliance of refugees and asylum seekers and beneficiaries of international protection in Greece. Moreover, INTERSOS HELLAS has focused since the outset on strengthening the community response, with an initial focus on promoting peaceful coexistence between host and hosted communities.

With professionalism, consistency, love, and solidarity, in these seven years, the staff of INTERSOS HELLAS were always next to the people in need, aiming at their safety and the improvement of their living conditions.

INTERSOS HELLAS was, is and will always be at the frontline of emergencies.

More information: www.intersos.gr

Médecins du Monde / Doctors of the World is an international Non – Governmental, independent, humanitarian organization, which was founded in 1980 by 15 French doctors that believed in bearing witness and providing direct access to medical care for the world's most vulnerable populations.

Mission

The first and foremost mission of Médecins du Monde is to provide treatment. Actions though are not limited to medical care. Always based on its medical experience and acting independently, MdM is vocal against the obstruction of access to healthcare and the violation of human rights and dignity. Firm supporters of human rights, they are against racism, xenophobia and the social isolation and marginalization of social groups.

Impact

The MdM operate two polyclinics in Athens and Thessaloniki.

- a) The operation of the Social Dental Clinic fills a significant gap by providing not only the necessary dental care to vulnerable children and adults but also systematic information and education aimed at adopting behavioral patterns and habits that lead to the improvement of oral health.
- b) A Mobile Medical Unit, staffed by experienced health professionals, provides specialised care in paediatric, cardiology, gynaecology and general preventive check-ups for people living in remote and inaccessible areas. In the same context, another Mobile Medical Unit provides preventive dental, paediatric and ophthalmological health services to vulnerable populations.

It also runs an open migrant accommodation center with a capacity of 44 places that operates on a 24/7 basis.

MdM also operate within reception facilities of Lesvos in order to meet the needs of third-country nationals, with emphasis on sexual and reproductive health, women and children's health care, health education and health promotion. At the same time, it takes on awareness-raising activities regarding public health to local educational and social structures in Lesvos.

Impact

MSF is currently active in several locations across Greece:

In downtown Athens, MSF runs an Urban Day Care Center and a Clinic to respond to the medical needs of asylum seekers/migrants residing all around the city.

The Victoria Square Clinic provides primary healthcare and mental healthcare during afternoon and evening hours. Moreover, at a third center MSF and partner organization provide medical and mental healthcare to survivors of torture and violence.

Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) was founded in 1971 in France by a group of doctors and journalists in the wake of war and famine in Biafra, Nigeria. Their aim was to establish an independent organisation that focuses on delivering emergency medicine aid quickly, effectively and impartially.

Mission

We provide medical assistance to people affected by conflict, epidemics, disasters, or exclusion from healthcare. Our teams are made up of tens of thousands of health professionals, logistic and administrative staff - bound together by our charter. Our actions are guided by medical ethics and the principles of impartiality, independence and neutrality. MSF was created in the belief that all people should have access to healthcare regardless of gender, race, religion, creed or political affiliation, and that people's medical needs outweigh respect for national boundaries.

Impact (Continue)

In the Elliniko camps MSF teams provide sexual and reproductive healthcare, mental healthcare, distribute hygiene kits, and conduct health promotion activities.

In the camp of Thermopyles MSF provides mental healthcare and sexual and reproductive healthcare.

In Lesvos, MSF runs a Clinic in the town of Mytilini for all asylum seekers and migrants residing on the island.

In the camps of Malakasa, Lavrio and Ritsona MSF provides mental healthcare to migrants and asylum seekers

Prolepsis Institute

Medical research, advocacy

Impact

The Prolepsis institute aims to:

- be involved in the organization and implementation of Preventive Medicine and Public Health programs;
- design and implement educational actions for the general population and specific groups of the population;
- advocate and raise awareness on issues that threaten citizens' physical and mental health and perpetuate or exacerbate social inequalities;
- respond to the needs of the people that belong to each vulnerable group by alleviating human pain, and to provide support in cases of a crisis situation or a natural disaster;

Prolepsis Institute is a civil non for profit organization established in 1990 in Athens, Greece, comprising a multi-disciplinary experienced team of physicians, health promotion and communication specialists, nutritionists, statisticians, psychologists, sociologists and economists. With a strong belief in health being a fundamental right, Prolepsis Institute has a leading role in the field of public health, by designing and implementing initiatives on several health issues in various sectors, targeting a wide range of groups, such as children, adults, women, migrants, Roma people, the elderly, and different types of occupational groups, such as health professionals, teachers, and educators as well as policymakers, other NGOs and decision makers

As a coordinator or a partner, Prolepsis Institute has participated in multiple large scale EU co-funded and national projects implementing research, educational initiatives, aiming at health promotion and education of the public, policy change and tackling health inequalities. Moreover, the Institute encourages interdisciplinary and international co-operation, creating networks of collaboration not only in Greece but also in Europe, and the USA. Prolepsis Institute has recently implemented a number of humanitarian focused projects aiming to promote the health and well-being of the vulnerable population groups.

Impact (Continue)

- Undertake research covering all project stages, including study design, protocol development, questionnaire or other measurement tools development, data collection, development of statistical methodology, data analysis, drafting of deliverables and related scientific publications.;
- Assess the impact of applied programs and actions by using scientifically documented assessment tools.

Direct beneficiaries in the last decade (since 2012) reach over 270.000 people. These people include children/teachers from low socioeconomic backgrounds, elderly people, migrants/refugees with specific focus on women, Roma people, health and other professionals, people suffering from natural disasters etc.

Refugee Week Greece
Cultural contribution

Refugee Week is a global and dynamic movement, a cultural festival celebrating the contribution, creativity and authenticity of people having experienced forced migration. It takes place every year on the 20th of June, on World Refugee Day. The Festival is organised by We are Community Ltd (UK) and Comicdom Press (Gr) in collaboration with Counterpoints Arts, supported by Comic Relief Across Borders programme on the 19-25th June 2023.

Mission

The initiative is a cultural festival, part of a dynamic global movement, and promotes the contribution, creativity and resilience of refugees and people seeking refuge. Refugee Week Greece aspires to build a stronger collaboration between various stakeholders that can share and create a positive message for refugees, one that prones us to change our everyday lives and work on more inclusive societies together.

Impact

Refugee Week is a platform in which all are welcome to take part in, whether it is attending or organising an event, activity or workshop. Already, prominent refugee organisations in Greece are participating by sharing their message of solidarity, inclusion and social equality.

For Refugee Week's 25th anniversary (19-25th June 2023) we celebrate what compassion looks like in action. Together we can create a shared understanding of compassion to ensure we are extending it widely to all. "Our task must be to free ourselves — by widening our circles of compassion to embrace all living creatures and the whole of nature in its beauty."- Albert Einstein

Through complete suggestions and targeted actions, we pursue to give answers to problems that our fellow citizens, that live as outsiders, have to deal with and that experience social exclusion, with the goal for them to become self-dependent and self-reliant. We become their voice, when it's needed, claiming rights that should be self-evident for every human being. We come across two types of people on the streets: Street Connected Adults (homeless, unemployed that live below the poverty line, people who use drugs, immigrants, refugees, human trafficking victims, sex workers). Street Connected Children (unaccompanied minors, working children, human trafficking victims).

Impact

Mission

Our mission is to approach street connected people, while at the same time giving them access to food, counseling, entertainment, first aid, clothing and personal hygiene. Our next goal is to provide space in apartments, in order for them to gain privacy. Our final goal is to provide them with the opportunity to develop their skills and/or to be trained in order for them to be autonomous.

